DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-23, 38-45, drawn to an microcapsules comprising antimicrobial agent encapsulated in a hydrophilic polymer and a polymer composition containing said microcapsules.

II. Claims 24-37, drawn to methods of preparing microcapsules comprising antimicrobial agent encapsulated in a hydrophilic polymer.

III. Claims 46-48, drawn to methods of preparing an antimicrobial resin comprising a polymer matrix and microcapsules comprising antimicrobial agent encapsulated in a hydrophilic polymer.

IV. Claim 49,50 are drawn to a method of controlling the rate of release of an antimicrobial agent from a polymer matrix and method of improving the antimicrobial properties of a non-hydrophilic polymer

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II,III and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process as evidenced by the different methods of preparing microcapsules claimed.

Inventions I and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product as evidenced by the different methods of using said product.

Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the method does not specify how the microcapsules comprising an antimicrobial agent encapsulated in a hydrophilic polymer which are incorporated into the polymer matrix are prepared. The subcombination has separate utility such as indicated by the as evidenced by the different methods of preparing microcapsules claimed and the fact that the microcapsules prepared can be used without incorporation into a polymer matrix.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Groups I, III or IV in that methods of preparing microcapsules need not be searched, the search required for Group III is not required for Groups I, II, IV in that methods of preparing antimicrobial resins need not be searched and the search for Group IV is not required for Groups I, II or III in that method of using need not be searched, and, as such would constitute an undue burden on Examiner, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to and discloses patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. For purposes of the election requirement, Examiner requests that Applicant chose an antimicrobial agent, the encapsulating hydrophilic polymer, an inorganic discoloration inhibiting agent, a dopant agent and the polymer which makes up the polymer matrix.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
